Part B: Authorship Declaration & Warranties

By signing below, the authors certify and warrant the following conditions to the Editorial Board of IJAPS:

1. Originality of Work: The manuscript represents an entirely original piece of scientific research. Neither this manuscript nor any substantial part of it has been published previously, and it is not currently under concurrent consideration or review by any other journal.
2. Authorship Contribution: Every listed author has made a significant intellectual contribution to the concept, design, experimental execution, data analysis, or writing of the study. All authors have read the final version of the manuscript, approve its content, and consent to its formal submission to IJAPS.
3. Ethical Compliance: Where applicable, formal approval was explicitly obtained from the appropriate Institutional Review Board (IRB) or local animal/human ethics committee before conducting in vivo experiments. Due permission has been stated clearly within the Materials and Methods section of the paper.
4. Third-Party Rights & Plagiarism: The text, figures, tables, and data contained within the manuscript do not infringe upon existing copyrights or proprietary rights of any third party. Any previously published text blocks, graphics, or insights used are properly credited and cited. The authors accept sole and full liability for any intellectual property or plagiarism disputes.
5. Conflict of Interest: The authors have clearly disclosed any financial, commercial, institutional, or personal relationships that could introduce bias or conflict of interest regarding the execution or presentation of this research. A disclosure statement has been embedded within the primary manuscript file.

Part C: Copyright Transfer Agreement

In consideration of the peer-review, editorial formatting, and subsequent publication of our work, the authors hereby grant, assign, and transfer all copyright ownership—including electronic reproduction, digital dissemination, translation, and open-access distribution rights—exclusively to the Publisher and Editorial Board of the International Journal of Applied Pharmaceutical Sciences (IJAPS).

The authors retain the right to utilize the published work for non-commercial educational purposes, personal research repositories, or academic presentations, provided that appropriate citation and credit are given to IJAPS as the original venue of publication.
